To Whom It May Concern

John Ivo Rasic

John Rasic worked for the Soil Survey for the Emirate of Abu Dhabi for two three month periods in 2007. During that time he was responsible for overseeing the operations of the project's field crew of six soil survey teams (a team was one soil surveyor and one field assistant) during the extensive survey. In that role he managed team's day-to-day logistics; monitored the professional quality of the work being undertaken; and undertook the field mapping of the area being surveyed.

I found John to be dedicated to undertaking his work, even under the extremely difficult circumstances he was faced with at the survey camps. Despite the significant challenges involved he was able to keep the field team working at a good rate. He completed the mapping required during his missions and contributed well to the overall running of the field operations.

I would welcome the opportunity to employ John again in the future and would be happy to provide more information if required.
