

JOHN RASIC

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I have known John Rasic for over a decade and he was always the soil surveyor of choice for my business. We run over 1,000 hectares of vineyard throughout Australia and after our first assignment with John we realised that he could be of enormous assistance to our business in both new developments and also assessing issues with existing vineyards. John's work was invaluable and all the staff got to know and respect John both as a soil scientist and as a colleague.

John has an 'old world' attitude of courtesy and care that endeared him to my staff and co directors and it is understandable that he wants to move from agriculture as the present outlook is rather bleak when taking the exchange rates and drought into the equation.

I would be happy to have anyone call me to discuss John and he would come with an extremely high recommendation from me.

Sincerely,

Ron Collins
